

Contents

1. Recent Prehistoric Archaeological Explorations in Upper Baitarani River Valley, Keonjhar District, Odisha: A Preliminary Report
Nishikanta Dwivedi, Rajashree Puhan and Sarat Pradhan 1-15
2. Museums, Gender and Culture
Supreo Chanda, Indrani Bhattacharya and Lyric Banerjee 17-24
3. Keeladi that Changes the History
S. Vairavarajan 25-30
4. Ziro Valley: Frozen in Time and Steeped in Tradition
Tapi Taka and T. S. Suryanarayanan 31-35
5. Exploring the Nexus of Yoga Education and Libraries: A Multifaceted Approach from Historical and Archaeological Perspectives
Suguna, L.S. 37-40
6. Indigenous Beliefs and Rituals: A Study on the Savara tribe of South Odisha
Ramakanta Bhuyan 41-47

Editorial Introduction to the Volume Second, Issue First of the Journal of Historical, Archaeological and Anthropological Studies (JHAAS)

Dear Readers,

The Editorial Board is pleased to release Issue First of Volume Second of the Journal of Historical, Archaeological, and Anthropological Studies (JHAAS). This issue features a collection of insightful and thought-provoking research papers that cover a broad range of topics in the fields of prehistory, archaeology, and anthropology, such as Recent Prehistoric Archaeological Explorations in Upper Baitarani River Valley, Keonjhar district, Odisha; Museums, Gender and Culture; Keeladi that Changes the History Ziro Valley; a Multifaceted Approach from Historical and Archaeological Perspectives through Exploring the Nexus of Yoga Education and Libraries; Indigenous Beliefs and Rituals in the Savara tribe of South Odisha and a Historical Study of two Lesser-Known Revolutionary Organizations of U.P. (Matrivedi and the H.R.A ) from 1916-1928

The papers in this journal will explore various themes, including the impact of colonialism on Indigenous communities, the significance of material culture in reconstructing past societies, the role of ancient trade networks in shaping the economic and cultural landscape and the role of gender in shaping social and political structures. We are confident that these papers will contribute to the advancement of knowledge in these important fields, and inspire further research in these areas.

Additionally, our Editorial Board will also feature articles that delve into the intersections of archaeology and anthropology, including the use of bioarchaeological methods to explore social and economic inequalities in ancient societies and the role of technology in enhancing our understanding of historical and archaeological contexts.

We are committed to including and presenting the highest quality papers that cover various aspects of history including social sciences, archaeology, and anthropology, and we invite scholars from all over the world to submit their research papers for consideration. We encourage researchers to take a holistic approach to these fields, recognizing the interrelated nature of history, archaeology, and anthropology.

We look forward to continuing to serve as a platform for the dissemination of research and ideas in these important fields. We hope that the articles in our Journal will inspire further research and stimulate discussion among scholars of history, archaeology, and anthropology.

Sincerely,
Prof. Yogambar Singh Farswan
Editor-In-Chief